

Data Protection and Privacy Notice

The purpose of this Data Protection and Privacy Notice is to inform you of your statutory rights and the protections available to you in relation to your Personal Data when it is provided to Generali Worldwide Insurance Company Ltd (“Generali Worldwide”) and to provide further information on how we use your Personal Data.

Personal Data is any information relating to you as an identifiable individual, and because your Personal Data has been provided to Generali Worldwide, you are entitled to the statutory rights and protections afforded by applicable Data Protection Law.

Guernsey Head Office

If your Personal Data relates to a Plan or Policy that has been issued by our Head Office in Guernsey, you are entitled to the statutory rights and protections afforded by the Data Protection (Bailiwick of Guernsey) Law, 2017 which is equivalent to Regulation (EU) 2016/679, the General Data Protection Regulation or “GDPR”. If your Personal Data relates to a Plan or Policy that has been issued by a Branch or Office of Generali Worldwide that is outside of Guernsey, you will be entitled to the same statutory rights and protections that are available in Guernsey in addition to those rights and protections offered by local Data Protection Laws in the relevant jurisdiction.

Hong Kong

If your Personal Data relates to a Plan that has been issued by our Hong Kong Branch, you are entitled to the statutory rights and protections afforded by the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance (Cap. 486) of Hong Kong.

Singapore

If your Personal Data relates to a Plan that has been issued by our Singapore Branch, you are entitled to the statutory rights and protections afforded by the Personal Data Protection Act 2012 (PDPA) of Singapore.

Switzerland

If your Personal Data relates to a Plan that is administered by our Switzerland Branch, you are entitled to the statutory rights and protections afforded by the Swiss Federal Data Protection Act.

Bahamas

If your Personal Data relates to a Policy that has been issued by our Bahamas Office, you are entitled to the statutory rights and protections afforded by the Data Protection (Privacy of Personal Information) Act, 2003 of The Bahamas.

Cayman Islands

If your Personal Data relates to a Policy that has been issued by our Cayman Islands Office, you will be entitled to the statutory rights and protections afforded by the Data Protection Law of the Cayman Islands that is expected to come into force in 2018.

British Virgin Islands

There are currently no dedicated Data Protection Laws in the BVI. However, if your Personal Data relates to a Policy that has been issued by our office in the BVI, it is protected by our duty and obligations of confidentiality under the Regulatory Code, 2009.

Cookies

This website makes use of cookies that helps us to distinguish you from other users of the website. Cookies are small non-executable files stored on your hard drive for the purpose of identifying your computer. How we use your Personal Data

Generali Worldwide will collect and process your Personal Data lawfully and fairly to the extent necessary for the management and administration of a Plan or Policy (or the Policy that your data is linked to). We reserve the right to further process your Personal Data where we consider it necessary to protect your vital interests, such as in a medical emergency or where we are compelled to under applicable law.

In processing your Personal Data, Generali Worldwide must comply with the applicable Data Protection Laws and the associated Data Protection Principles that are set out in the Appendix to this Data Privacy Notice.

Should Generali Worldwide need to use Personal Data that is classified by law as a special category of ‘Sensitive Personal Data’ or process your Personal Data for purposes other than for the contractual performance of a Plan or Policy, such as direct marketing, then the reasons will be explained to you in writing and your specific consent will be required. You may withdraw such consent at any time by providing us with written notice.

'Sensitive Personal Data' is defined as data revealing racial or ethnic origin, religious, political or philosophical beliefs, genetic, biometric, health data or data concerning an individual's sexual orientation.

When entering into or becoming a life assured, beneficiary or member of a Plan or Policy with Generali Worldwide that relies upon the provision of your Personal Data, we confirm that your Personal Data will be used as a matter of necessity for the purposes of administering the relevant Plan or Policy and to comply with our statutory and regulatory obligations. We are required to inform you of your statutory rights as a data subject and provide you with a range of related information.

We will not retain more Personal Data than we need in order to operate the relevant Plan or Policy, or to meet our obligations under applicable law and regulation. If you wish to withdraw your consent to the use of your Personal Data in this respect, it will be necessary to either:

- a) Terminate the relevant Plan or Policy
- b) Cease participation in your Employer's Policy
- c) Remove yourself as a beneficiary under the relevant Plan or Policy.

This is because we cannot operate a Plan or Policy without reference to the relevant Personal Data. For Investment linked Plans, termination of a Plan under these circumstances may incur significant costs and/or a material loss that may be up to the value of the Premiums that have been contributed.

The Personal Data that we require about you will typically comprise of and may vary, depending on the nature of the Plan or Policy:

- Full name and any former names or aliases
- Permanent residential address, preferred email address(es), and telephone number(s)
- Nationality, including any Dual Nationality
- Date and place of birth
- Gender
- Tax domicile and Tax Identification Number (where applicable)
- Documents which determine your identity and current or former residential address(es)
- Information relating to the source(s) of your wealth, including but not limited to your current and former income and employment and details of any public position held by you either currently or in the past.

Depending on the nature of the relevant Plan or Policy, we may require additional Personal Data or require validation of your Personal Data at any time in order to ensure that the information is up to date, accurate and sufficient for us to manage and administer the Plan or Policy.

How we store your Personal Data

Personal Data records held by us will typically comprise, but not be limited to hard copy documents, scanned documents, transaction information, email communications, telephone voice recordings where applicable and CCTV images (if you visit our premises), that are stored on electronic and/or physical systems.

All Personal Data is held by us on a strictly confidential basis but may be transferred or disclosed by us in the following circumstances:

- Between members of the Generali Group for management and governance purposes
- To your Financial Adviser or any third party as may be authorised by you
- To your employer, where you are a member of an Employee Benefit Policy
- To our service providers, meaning any agent, contractor or third-party service provider, including but not limited to our administration and claims outsourcing partners, investment fund managers, investment trustees and custodians, fiscal representatives or re-insurers, or any other party that provide services to us in connection with the provision of our insurance products and services, wherever they are located in the world
- To statutory authorities wherever located in the world, including but not limited to, financial and other regulators, tax authorities and the police or other law enforcement agencies. Any disclosure will be limited to the extent as may be required for us to comply with applicable law, regulation, regulatory code, rule or official guidance, including in connection with tax information exchange and the prevention and detection of money laundering, terrorist financing, fraud and other financial crimes.

We are required to hold your Personal Data during the lifetime of the Policy or membership within the Policy and we will retain it for a period of up to 10 years after the business relationship ceases, which we deem to be necessary to meet our statutory and regulatory obligations. Your Personal Data will not be retained for longer than is necessary and it will be erased or otherwise put beyond use when it is no longer required.
